

Curriculum Vitae

Emma Lupano

Emma is a professional journalist (Il Sole 24 ore - Job24, AgiChina24 and others), PhD in Chinese media (University La Sapienza) and Adjunct Professor of Chinese Language and Culture at the University of Milan.

She has lived in China for four years, studying at the Renmin University in Beijing and working as a freelance correspondent for newspapers print, radio and web Italian and foreign companies. She was senior editor and reporter for the news agency of the Organizing Committee of the Olympic Games in Beijing in 2008, visiting researcher and editor of the China Media Project at Hong Kong University and editor of the People's Daily Online, the web edition of the newspaper in the English language that, since 1948, is the official spokesman of the Chinese Communist Party.

Since 2009 she is also responsible for communication of the Confucius Institute at the University of Milan.